DAAD-Go8 program for researchers

Group of Eight Australia – Germany Joint Research Co-operation Scheme

Objective

The scheme aims to

- foster research collaborations between Australian researchers from Go8 universities and German researchers by supporting exchanges between Australian and German researchers
- result in research outcomes and the exchange of skills and knowledge of mutual benefit to Australia and Germany.

Requirements

- Applicants must be Australian citizens or Australian permanent residents
- Applicants must be employed as academic staff members in a teaching and research or research only role or a PhD student involved in the research project submitted by an eligible staff member at a Go8 university (ANU, UoAdelaide, UoMelbourne, Monash University, UNSW, UQ, USYD, UWA)
- Well-defined research proposals necessitating research collaboration between Australian and German researchers
- Preference for projects that facilitate exchanges between early career researchers
- The DAAD particularly welcomes applications in the natural and engineering sciences

Deadline

Applications for exchanges usually open in April each year.

Please note: To be successful, Australian applicants must ensure that their German collaborators submit a corresponding application with the same title to the DAAD in Germany!

DAAD-ATN program for researchers

ATN-DAAD Australia Germany Joint Research Cooperation Scheme

The scheme is a joint initiative of the Australian Technology Network of Universities (ATN: QUT, UTS, RMIT, UniSA, Curtin University) and the DAAD for an initial period of three years.

Objective

The scheme aims to

- foster research collaboration of the highest quality between Australian researchers from ATN universities and German researchers from German universities, institutes of technology and Fachhochschulen (Fachhochschulen are German higher education institutions that offer applied research and practical courses of study).
- support exchanges for Australian researchers to spend time at partner institutions in Germany and for collaborating German researchers to spend time at ATN universities.
- It is hoped that the scheme will result in research outcomes and the exchange of skills and knowledge of mutual benefit to Australia and Germany.

Requirements

- Applicants must be Australian citizens or hold permanent residence status in Australia and be employed as an academic staff member in a teaching and research or research only role at an ATN university.
- Particular preference will be given to projects that facilitate exchanges between early career researchers involved in research collaborations of mutual benefit to Australia and Germany.
- The criteria to be used in assessing Australian applications include:
 - the quality of the research project;
 - the experience and track record of the participating researchers/research groups;
 - the level of involvement of early career researchers; and
 - the potential of the project to result in outcomes of mutual benefit to Australia and Germany.

Deadline

The initial call for applications opened on 1 October 2010 and will close on 23 December. One signed application must be submitted to the contact officer in the relevant ATN Research Office, with an electronic version of the application also submitted by email.

Please note: To be successful, Australian applicants must ensure that their German collaborators submit a corresponding application with the same title to the DAAD in Germany!

European program for p/g students

Erasmus Mundus

Objective

Erasmus Mundus allows talented students from outside the EU to undertake Master's degrees in Europe. In the jargon of the EU these students are "third country students". Australians fall into this category and thus are eligible for the opportunities Erasmus Mundus offers. Erasmus Mundus Master's degrees are co-ordinated between different EU and Norwegian higher education institutions so that you do parts of the course in different universities, fully or partly in different countries.

COST Travel Scholarships

European Cooperation in Science and Technology

Objective

COST exists to foster cooperation between nationally-funded research activities. COST offers Travel Scholarships of € 2,500 (ca. AUD 3,800) to support travel and living expenses for Australians going to Europe.

Duration Short stays, meetings, workshops etc.

Requirements

Scientists should work in one of the following five fields: medical and health research, agriculture, biotechnology and food technology, nanotechnology, information and communication technology, environment and climate change.

European program for or academics and students

EU: Industrialised Countries Instrument Education Cooperation Program (ICI ECP)

The European Commission has launched together with the governments of Australia, Japan, New Zealand and the Republic of Korea (in alphabetical order) a new multi-country call for proposals.

Objective - support international curriculum development projects that involve short term mobility between the EU and the partner ICI countries not necessarily related to award of a joint or dual/double degree.

Consortia applying for projects under this call are formed by at least 3 institutions from the EU and 2 institutions from a given partner country. Selected consortia will set up a framework for student mobility whereby EU students will typically spend one semester in the partner country institution and vice versa with full recognition of the study period abroad by the home institution. Support includes mobility grants for students and members of the academic and administrative staff ("faculty").

Funding The EU budget finances projects with up to 2.5 million Euros. Partner countries as Australia fund common projects with a comparable amount.

Deadline for submissions of applications: usually in September.

Further Information http://eacea.ec.europa.eu/extcoop/ici-ecp/funding/2010/call_2010_en.htm

There's also a range of Australian scholarship programs available. You will find more information on Australian funding opportunities at http://www.mobility.org.au/outgoing/?funding_Australia or <http://www.jason.edu.au/>

For Queensland-based government or industry professionals involved in an eligible area of research

Queensland International Fellowships

The program enables Queenslanders to undertake collaborative scientific research or policy development projects at leading international institutions, government agencies and/or private sector research organisations. The program gives at least 12 researchers per year the opportunity to work overseas and undertake a high quality, technically feasible and strategically valuable project with a leading international knowledge partner.

Details:

Applications open around September and close in December, with results usually available from March of the following year. Eligible research areas and target countries change every round. Please check the website for further information. However, applications that identify an opportunity to collaborate with a leading knowledge partner in a country or area not listed might also be eligible for support.

Applications are assessed competitively against a number of selection criteria. Fellows must spend a minimum of 12 weeks with their international host. Up to A$44,000 will be awarded per fellowship. The amount depends on the project duration.

How to apply and further information:

You will find all relevant documents as well as a flyer, further information and contact details on the website: <http://www.science.qld.gov.au/dsdweb/v4/apps/web/content.cfm?id=13219>
